Emotional and Bonding Psychotherapy have been practiced in inpatient and outpatient settings for over 35 years in eight European countries, the United States and Argentina. It involves physical contact together with narrative and emotional expression, and is applicable to most common emotional and attachment disorders.

Beyond the work with adults, Bonding Psychotherapy has been applied to the treatment of parents with their children within modern clinical settings.

All this can be seen and discussed in the three days of the Conference.

We welcome your presence and participation in the Twentieth Conference of the European Association for Bonding Psychotherapy.
