

Belluno, World Capital of Emotions.

1-3 ottobre 2021

ISBP Conference, International Society for Bonding Psychotherapy,
Hotel Da Benito, Ponte nelle Alpi (BL) - Centro Giovanni XXIII, Belluno

October 1st-3rd 2021: Professionals from around the world return to Belluno to talk about how emotional communication is good for interpersonal and social relationships. Belluno, once again, becomes the “world capital of emotions”. The ISBP international conference is organized and hosted by Fondazione Progetto Uomo.

Days and Topics

The International Conference will have a section reserved by invitation to physicians and psychotherapists, and another section open to everyone, upon previous registration and reservation.

Conference events will be held at Hotel Benito, Pian di Vedoia, Ponte nelle Alpi (BL) and at Giovanni XXIII's Congress Center, in downtown Belluno, in Piazza Piloni, for the Therapeutic Communities Forum. All events will have simultaneous translation provided.

The Congress will open its doors on Thursday, September 30th, at the Benito Hotel, with a welcome to ISBP's specialists arriving in Belluno.

In the afternoon, doctor Godehard Stadtmüller, German Psychiatric and Fellow Psychoanalyst, will hold a training session for the ISBP's members.

Friday, October 1st, we'll get to the core of the conference. At the Benito Hotel, in two separate rooms, we will share lectures and workshops on: Efficacy and educational and therapeutic outcomes of Bonding Psychotherapy (BP).

At Giovanni XXIII's Center in Belluno, from 3pm to 6pm, we will have the Official Opening of the Conference, with the introduction by Fondazione Progetto Uomo's president, don Gigetto De Bortoli, which will be followed by the introduction of the main theme of the Conference: “Being In Touch Again”, and reports by SIPE's (Italian Society of Emotional Psychotherapy) president and leaders of other societies, specifically: European ESBP (European Society of Bonding Psychotherapy), and the International ISBP (International Society of Bonding Psychotherapy).

Saturday, October the 2nd, at Benito Hotel, from 9am to 6pm, lectures and workshops will follow one to another, coordinated by BP's specialists, with a focus on different applications of the method in different countries: experiences, scientific researches and clinical applications, with many studies on results evaluation.

Other themes that will be discussed: the challenge of consensus on working in presence; applications of BP groups for families facing member problems, the personal identity; the search for happiness; bonding exercises; roles and methods of supervision; tutoring and development of applications.

At Giovanni XXIII's center, open to the public, will be the following agenda:

9.15 am to 1 pm: Experiential training, including 3 workshops on: "Efficacy of Bonding Groups in Educational and Therapeutic paths". The workshops include:

- 1st Why is an emotional group essential for the therapeutic path?
- 2nd How the emotional groups reduce leaving treatment and abandonment?
- 3rd How can psychologists be formed in BP?

Workshops will be followed by a panel discussion.

2.30 pm to 6 pm: training by the Italian Federation of Therapeutic Communities (FICT). The trainings include:

- 1st Everything is more on your part
- 2nd Reality is more important than ideas
- 3rd Belonging overcomes conflict

Following this will be a panel discussion with the speakers and concluding remarks by the FICT's president, Luciano Squillaci.

Sunday, October 3rd, at Benito Hotel, Experiences and research to empower the philosophy and BP's method; Accreditation levels and the Agenda of international work.

The international conference, will answer three main questions of international interest:

- 1st How to "get back in touch", in and after the pandemic?
- 2nd What winning sense of belonging, if not the emotional approach?
- 3rd How to build personal, familiar and community welfare in a time of imperative ego centering?
